THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

Wedded Amid Easter Lilies and Jon-

C. O'Donnell-The Coming

Bicycle Meet.

A notable ceremony took place today at noon at the residence of Mrs. John R. Edie in the marriage of her daughter, Miss Julia Edie, to Mr. John C. O'Donnell. The bride, who is the greatest favorite in society, is the daughter of the late Major John R. Edle, ordnance corps, U. S. A., and her maternal grandfather was the late Commodore Charles Stewart McCauley, U. S. N. The groom is the only son of the late C. Oliver O'Donnell and grandson of Columbus O'Donnell, both in their day well-known and influential citizens of Baltimore. His mother was Miss Helen Carroll, sister of ex-Governor Carroll of Maryland. Mr. O'Donnell was educated abroad, and has lived in this country but very little. For the happy event of today the pretty yellow drawing room of Mrs. Edie's home was decked with Easter lilies, jonquis and white roses, arranged in vases on the mantels and cabinets. The bay window was filled in with spreading palms, flanked with yellow blooming plants, by which a chancel effect was given. White satin ribbons divided this end of the room off until the bridal party had grouped there in the presence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Dr. Mackay-Smith. The guests had all assembled just before 12 o'clock, when Professor Gloetzner began the wedding march, and the bride and her attendants entered the drawing room. The four ushers, who were Ensign Edie, U. S. N., brother of the bride; Mr. Philip McMillan, Capt. Heese and Mr. George Hellen, came first, preceding Miss McMillan, who was maid of honor. The bride was escorted by her uncle, Mr. Edward McCauley, who gave her hand in marriage. Mr. Cavendish Taylor of London was best man. After the ceremony the couple received the congratulations of the company, and the wedding breakfast was served.

The bride looked very handsome in her ernor Carroll of Maryland. Mr. O'Donnell

The bride looked very handsome in he wedding gown of white satin, simply but tastefully made and trimmed with point lace. Her tulle veil was crowned by a tiara of diamonds in a design of fleur-delis. This superb ornament was one of the wedding gifts from the groom. Her bouquet was of white lilaes. Miss McMillan was charmingly dressed in yellow mousseline de soie, over satin the same shade, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bride's presents are superb, both in number and elegance. Her friends have been enjoying their substantial glitter and beauty for the past week, but today they we all repacked and put away in a safe leposit vault until the return of the couple from their wedding trip. Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell left this afternoon for New York O'Donnell left this afternoon for New York and will shortly sail for Europe, where they will spend the summer. In September they will return here and go to housekeeping. Among the New Yorkers on for the wedding were Sir Roderick Cameron, the Misses Cameron, Mr. De Lancy Kane and Mr. and Mrs. Craig Wadsworth; from Baltimore, Mr. Harper Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee, Mr. C. O'Donnell Lee and other relatives, which, with the large family connection of both the bride and groom in this city, completely surrounded them today with smilling faces.
